Dearest Sue,

The first time I spoke to you I was crying in a parking lot. Everything in my life was a Jenga game and if I made one wrong move, it all came crashing down. I thought I had it all figured out. I had been to psychologists, psychiatrists, taken medicines, meditated, read self-help books, taken advice from all my wonderful friends and every time...the same result...misery. You took me on a journey of love and healing like I have never experienced before. I STILL giggle when I remember the things I managed to do with your help! The most interesting thing was half the time I didn't actually believe you. I just went with it to see what would happen. Wow! Things happened! For the first time, I didn't feel judged. It is what it is. You are magical, powerful, intelligent, radiant, encouraging, grateful and inspiring...and now, so am I. I know what I REALLY want and I start each day thinking only of that. I no longer allow anyone to interrupt my morning "me time" while I decide what the day will bring me. I'm excited for what my path has in store for me...good and bad...because now I have the skills to deal with all of it. I LOVE me! There isn't a greater gift. Thank you, thank you Sue. MORE of that please world! ☺

Kindest regards,

SS
